Other relevant information:

Full medical records: We share the view of the BMA that requesting the full medical record is excessive as disclosures of information should be proportionate to the purpose for which the information is required. Under the Data Protection Act 1998 (DPA), only patients are entitled to copies of their full medical record.

In the case of a request for full medical records we will only comply once the patient has given explicit consent for the medical record to be shared with the insurer.

Reports for patients taken ill abroad: Consent is needed before information is disclosed for the purpose of verifying claims, for example before a company organizes repatriation of a policy holder taken ill abroad. In such cases, the company must approach the policy holder for permission to release sufficient information to verify the claim.
